Marking Time.

In the general market the movement has been a sort of marking time in waiting for the fall money conditions to work themselves out. Further gold has started from London, but on a limited scale, and the Bank of England has used the customary means to protect the London stock of gold. Liberal supplies of exchange have come into the New York market and it is commonly believed that a part of the absorption for so-called investment account is in preparation for the future need in connection with the Panama canal payment. To induce this operation the rate of exchange must fall low enough to offer a profit oy the time of the maturity of the bills whier will contrast favorably with the rate of interest in the lecal market. A rise in the call money rate consequently depresses the exchange market by releasing supplies to that market, while an easing of the call loan rate induces new investment demand for exchange. In effect, the collection of exchange washes in London praceeds execut when the balance of profit turns to the side of retention of the credit in London. There is some question raised whether the currency reflux from the west may be delayed by the desire of western bankers to protect themselves against money emergencies. But it is not likely that anything short of actual runs on banks would prevent the usual remittances to New York under the law allowing national banks to count deposits in reserve cities as part of their own reserve. Hopes over the railroad outlook are inclined to turn to the chances for retrenchment in expenditures for betterments, and even to reduced cost of operation by economies growing out of the large permanent betterments affected during the late prosperous period.

Bonds have been dult and rather irregular, in harmony with the tightness of the money markets.

U. S. new 4's declined 4's and the 2s, 3s and old 4s 1/2 per cent below the closing bid of last week.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—The wheat situation was rather mixed, the December delivery being strong, white the more distant futures were barely steady. There was selling by commission houses at the start on lower Liverpool cables and more favorable Argentine crop advices, and while spring wheat receipts were light compared with last year, the receipts of winter wheat in the southwest were again liberal and offset the smaller receipts for the northwest. May opened ½ to ½ lower at $90289½, but with the advance in December the price became slightly firmer, advancing to $0½. The market held steady for a time on buying by $1, Louis houses and by the leading longs. Reports of large cash sales at Duinth for shipment to Buffalo helped to steady prices. Toward the latter part of the session there was liberal realizing in May and the early gain was lost, the close being a shade lower at $90489½, closing with a gain of % at $96.

Prospects of increasing receipts and an improvement in grading subjected the corn market to considerable selling pressure and as a result prices tended toward at lower level. May closed % lower at $10. December closed ½ 60% lower at 41%. December closed largely by the lower lower lower lower l
